

Train crash near Inkeroinen at Kotka rail 21.7.1905 when 4 people died.

Photo: Otavamedia / JOKA / The Finnish Heritage Agency

Father Christmas gives gifts to kind children, 1940s.

Photo: Otavamedia / JOKA / The Finnish Heritage Agency

Harmony Sisters from Kotka, Maire, Raija (at piano) and Vera (right) in Autumn 1942. Second from the right is their mother Ester (Essi) Valtonen.

Photo: Valokuva Oy Kolmio / Otavamedia / JOKA / The Finnish Heritage Agency

Helsinki Bus Station in Kamppi, 1950s.
Photo: Eero Troberg / Otavamedia / JOKA / The Finnish Heritage Agency

There was a bomb shelter in Erottaja at Helsinki during the 1950s.
Photo: Toivo Grönroos / Suomen Kuvalehti / Otavamedia / The Finnish Heritage Agency

Shopping Center Forum in Helsinki 1952.
Photo: Toivo Grönroos / Otavamedia / JOKA / The Finnish Heritage Agency

Schlager Star Danny 1969. At the same year he won the Grand Prix -price from the youth magazine Suosikki.

Photo: Jorma Blomqvist / Seura / Otavamedia / JOKA / The Finnish Heritage Agency

Clown Onni and young Inari in TV studio 1963. Onni Gideon was a well-known Onni-clown in a childrens program on Sundays.

Photo: Antti Taskinen / Seura / Otavamedia / JOKA / The Finnish Heritage Agency

Pilvi-Sisko Multimäki 1973. She played the role of Pilvi 1973 in a popular Finnish TV-series Naapurilähiö. It was very popular 1969–1976. Photo: Mauno Hämäläinen / Seura / Otavamedia / JOKA / The Finnish Heritage Agency

Katri Helena at her birthplace Tohmajärvi in 1978. Photo: Kari Santala / Otavamedia / JOKA / The Finnish Heritage Agency

The Russian children's author Eduard Uspenski and starling Cralya 1988 in the village of Klazma. Photo: Markku Niskanen / Seura / Otavamedia / JOKA / The Finnish Heritage Agency